LIBERALITY OF BABU SARADA PRASAD RAI CHAUDHURI, ZAMINDAR OF KASHIMPUR.

No. 106T.G., dated Darjeeling, the 15th May 1916.

From—THE HON'BLE MR. L. S. S. O'MALLEY, I.C.S., Secretary to the Government of Bengal, General (Education) Department,

To—The Commissioner of the Dacca Division.

WITH reference to your letter No. 1752J., dated the 1st April 1916, reporting that Babu Sarada Prasad Rai Chaudhuri, Zamindar of Kashimpur, in the district of Dacca, has made a donation of Rs. 20,000 for the establishment of a high school at Simulia in the Sadar subdivision of that district, I am directed to request that you will be so good as to convey to the donor the thanks of Government for his liberality and public spirit.

MONTHLY WEATHER AND CROP REPORT OF BENGAL FOR APRIL 1916.

I. Character of the season.—During the month under report general rain fell throughout the Province. The fall was in excess in all the districts excepting in Murshidabad, Birbhum, Midnapore and Howrah.

II. Progress of Agricultural Operations.—The harvesting of boro paddy was in progress, and that of other rabi crops was practically over. Sowing of aus paddy and jute was somewhat hampered early in the month owing to drought, but good rainfall afterwards greatly facilitated the operations.

III. State of the Standing Crops.—The condition of the summer rice crop was not very satisfactory owing to the unfavourable weather of the previous months.

IV. Prospects and Probable Outturn.—Only a fair outturn of summer rice was expected. The prospects of the mango crop were fairly good.

V. Damage to Standing Crops.—The rain in some districts was attended with hailstorm, but the extent of damage was very slight.

VI. Condition of Agricultural Stock.—The condition of agricultural stock was fair. The number of districts from which cattle disease was reported during the month varied from five to ten.

VII. Failure of Pasturage and Fodder.—The scarcity of fodder was keenly felt in parts of the Bankura district.

VIII. Prices of Food-grains.—During the second fortnight of the month under review the prices of common rice rose in two districts, fell in eleven, and remained stationary in the rest. It varied from 6 seers 12 chitaks per rupee at the Kalna subdivision of Burdwan to 11 seers 8 chitaks at Contai.

IX. Condition of Agricultural People.—In the Bankura district distress in the affected areas remained unchanged. Gratuitous relief was being given to a large number of men by Government as well as by private charitable bodies. People were also resorting to relief works freely. Their number, however, fell to a certain extent owing to the resumption of agricultural operations. In the Tippera district the condition was improving.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Third and Final Forecast of the Spring Oilseed Crops of Bengal, 1915-16.

(Note.—On the average of the five years ending 1913-14, the area under linseed in Bengal represents some 5·9 per cent., and that under rape and mustard 21·1 per cent. of the total area under these crops in British India.)

Character of the Season.—The rainfall in the months of September and October, though defective, was general throughout the Province. Consequently sufficient moisture was left in the soil, and this helped the sowings, which generally took place at the normal time. There were good showers of rain in the third week of November, which favoured the growth of the crops. Since then the total absence of rain interfered with the development of the crops to a considerable extent. Damage by insects is also reported from some places. On the whole, the season was not very favourable.

Acreage.—Oilseeds are grown principally in the Rajshahi, Dacca and Presidency Divisions. In the other two divisions the area under the crops is small. The total area under the crops this year (excepting sesamum to which separate forecasts are devoted) is estimated at 1,546,200 acres, against 1,527,100 acres (revised) last year and against 1,556,800 acres reported in the corresponding forecast of last year.

Outturn.—According to the estimates of the District Officers, the total outturn of the different kinds of oilseeds (excepting til) for the Province as a whole works out to 79 per cent. of the normal against the same outturn last year.

Taking 6 maunds per acre as the normal rate of yield for linseed, rape and mustard and 4½ maunds per acre for other oilseeds, the total yield of all kinds of spring oilseeds (excepting til) is estimated at 266,000 tons, against 260,500 tons (revised) last year and against 263,700 tons reported in the corresponding forecast of last year.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Final Forecast of the Wheat Crop of Bengal, 1915-16.

[Note.—On an average of the five years ending 1913-14 the area under wheat in Bengal has represented some 0·5 per cent. of the total area under wheat in India. This ratio of irrigated wheat acreage to total wheat acreage in (a) British India and (b) in the territory now reported on has, in the five years ending 1913-14, averaged (a) 37·6 per cent. and (b) 16·6 per cent., respectively.]

Character of the season.—In September and October general rain fell throughout the province. This enabled the sowings to be made in the usual time. There were good showers of rain in the third week of November which generally helped the growth of the crop. The crop up to this time was generally regarded as satisfactory. After this a period of drought followed and thereby the crop suffered considerably. In the important district of Malda, however, a normal crop has been reaped. The season though not altogether favourable was better than last year.

Area Sown.—The total area sown with the crop this year is estimated at 133,600 acres against 134,100 acres last year.

Outturn.—The outturns in the important wheat-growing districts are as follows :—Nadia 42 per cent., Murshidabad 75 per cent., Malda 100 per cent., Pabna 60 per cent. According to the estimates of the District Officers the provincial outturn works out to 78 per cent. against 61 per cent. of the normal last year. Taking the normal yield to be 10½ maunds per acre, the total yield for the province is estimated to be 40,200 tons against 31,600 tons last year.

At the end of April the average wholesale price of wheat at the principal marts of the province was Rs. 5-2 per maund, or 14 per cent. less than the price ruling at the same time last year, and 10 per cent. more than that in 1914. The average wholesale price of common rice for the province, on the other hand, at the end of April was 0·5 per cent. lower and 1·5 per cent. higher than at the corresponding rates in 1915 and 1914 respectively.

	Acres.	Acres.	Acres.
Nadia	23,100	18,200	16,000	42	43	March. Normal ...	Want of rain throughout the season retarded the growth of the crop and accounts for the low outturn
Murshidabad ...	69,300	31,600	31,300	67	75	March. Normal ...	The decrease in area, as compared with that of last year, is due to want of rain at the time of sowing. The crop was damaged to the extent of about three annas by drought and insect pests. Hence the outturn has fallen below the normal.
Jessore	2,300	1,100	1,100*	54	48	February to March. Normal.	Considerable tracts of land having been submerged under water could not be sown with the crop. Drought checked the growth of the crop and damaged it to a great extent. This accounts for the low outturn.
Burdwan	1,800	2,000	2,000*	75	75	Middle of February to middle of March.	The weather was unfavourable as there was no rainfall. The crops suffered for want of moisture to the extent of three annas in Kalna and two annas in Sadar subdivision.
Birbhum	5,000	4,100	4,100*	67	75	First week of March. Early.	The weather conditions were fair. Damage to the extent of about three annas was caused by drought.
Bankura	3,600	3,600	3,600*	63	63	March. Normal.
Midnapore	2,600	1,300	1,300*	75	90	Middle of March. Normal.	Slight damage was done by drought. Hence the outturn has fallen below the normal.
Hooghly	2,400	1,700	1,700*	83	83	March. Normal ...	The outturn is below the normal on account of scanty rainfall at the time of sowing.
Rajshahi	8,500	7,800	7,800*	65	75	First week of March. Normal.	The weather was not favourable owing to want of timely rainfall. Hence the outturn has fallen below the normal.
Dinajpur	1,000	1,400	1,400*	50	58	Beginning of March. Normal.	The weather was not favourable. Insufficient rainfall accounts for the outturn falling far below the normal.
Jalpaiguri	1,000	900	900*	78	80	Middle of March. Normal.	The outturn is expected to fall below the normal owing to deficient rainfall.
Darjeeling	4,500	4,400	4,400*	64	85	March. Normal ...	Damage to the extent of two annas has been caused by drought.
Rangpur	3,000	3,400	3,400*	90	90	Beginning of March. Normal.	The crop was of stunted growth for want of rain in the latter part of February. This accounts for the outturn falling somewhat below the normal.
Pabna	16,000	12,000	12,000	50	50	Middle of March. Normal	Over a considerable area the crop was destroyed by drought. Hence the outturn is estimated to be much below the normal.
Malda	60,000	38,000	40,000	60	100	Second week of March. Normal.	The increase in area, as compared with that of last year, is due to favourable weather at the time of sowing. About two annas of the crop have been damaged by subsequent drought, but a normal outturn is still expected.
Faridpur	2,700	2,700	2,700*	85	80	March. Normal ..	The weather was not favourable. Damage to the extent of about 20 per cent. is estimated as due to drought.

DISTRICT REPORTS ON WEATHER AND CROPS

For the week ending on the 15th May 1916.

Summary—During the week under review light rain fell generally almost throughout the Province. More rain is urgently needed for ploughing and sowing of autumn crops, especially in the western and northern districts. Sowings have almost been completed in the eastern districts. Weeding of jute fields continues. Harvesting of summer rice is approaching completion. Young jute and sugarcane plants and other standing crops are doing well, but more rain will help their growth. The prospects of mango are reported to be fair in Malda. Scarcity of water continues to be reported from parts of the Murshidabad district. Cattle-disease prevails in nine districts. The average price of common rice for the Province has a slight tendency to rise as compared with that of the preceding week.

DISTRICT REPORTS ON WEATHER AND CROPS

For the week ending on the 15th May 1916.

Summary.—During the week under review light rain fell generally almost throughout the Province. More rain is urgently needed for ploughing and sowing of autumn crops, especially in the western and northern districts. Sowings have almost been completed in the eastern districts. Weeding of jute fields continues. Harvesting of summer rice is approaching completion. Young jute and sugarcane plants and other standing crops are doing well, but more rain will help their growth. The prospects of mango are reported to be fair in Malda. Scarcity of water continues to be reported from parts of the Murshidabad district. Cattle-disease prevails in nine districts. The average price of common rice for the Province has a slight tendency to rise as compared with that of the preceding week.

The increase during the week in Coaching is mainly in through passengers and luggage.
The decrease in goods is under Flour, Iron, Potatoes, Salt and Miscellaneous Goods.
The earnings of the first month of the half-year show a slight falling off from 1915. This is mainly under Iron, Cement and Building Material. As the traffic continues good it is hoped that the estimated earnings for the half-year of Rs. 6,20,000 (which is placed a little below that of 1915) will be fully realised.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 24, 1916.

PART IA.

Orders and Notifications by the Government of India.

The following order, issued by the Government of India in the Army Department, published in the Gazette of India, dated the 15th May 1916, is republished for general information.

J. H. KERR,
Offg. Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

Simla, the 10th May 1916.

ORGANISATION.

No. 503.—The following despatch from General Sir John Nixon, K.C.B., A.-D.-C., General, on the operations of Indian Expeditionary Force "D" in Mesopotamia for the period from the beginning of October 1915 to the date he relinquished command of the Force is published for general information.

No. 168-11-O., dated the 17th January 1916.

From—GENERAL SIR JOHN NIXON, K.C.B., A.-D.-C., General, Commanding Indian Expeditionary Force "D",

To—The Chief of the General Staff, Army Headquarters, India.

I HAVE the honour to forward a report on the operations in Mesopotamia during the months of October, November and December 1915.

2. In my last despatch I described events up to October 5th. On that date the Turkish Army under Nur-ed-Din, which had been defeated at Kut-al-Amarah, had reached a previously prepared position astride the Tigris at Ctesiphon, where it received reinforcements; and our advanced troops under Major-General Townshend reached Aziziyah (30 miles east of Ctesiphon).

3. During the next six weeks, reinforcements, supplies, and transport animals were brought up to Kut and Aziziyah preparatory to a further advance up the Tigris. These preliminary movements were inevitably slow on account of the difficulties of navigation during the low-water season which delayed the passage of shipping.

4. Throughout this period of preparation frequent skirmishes took place with the enemy, who had pushed out advanced detachments to Zeur and Kutunie, 7 and 14 miles, respectively, above Aziziyah.

5. The cavalry brigade and one infantry brigade advanced from Aziziyah on 11th November and occupied Kutunie without opposition.

On the 18th November General Townshend had concentrated the whole of his force and the shipping at Kutunie.

6. On the 19th November the advance was continued, moving by both banks of the river, and Zeur was occupied. The enemy's advanced troops withdrew towards Ctesiphon after offering slight opposition. On 20th November the force on the left bank reached Lajj (9 miles from Ctesiphon); the shipping and the right bank detachment arrived on the 21st, the latter crossing the river and joining the main body on the left bank.

7. The Turkish position at Ctesiphon lay astride the Tigris covering the approach to Baghdad, which is situated some 18 miles to the north-west. The defences had been under construction for some months. They consisted of an extensive system of entrenchments forming two main positions. On the right bank the front position extended from the river for about three miles in a south-west direction, the second line trenches lying some five miles further upstream. On the left bank a continuous line of entrenchments and redoubts stretched from the river for six miles to the north-east, the left flank terminating in a large redoubt. On this bank the second line was about two miles behind the front position and parallel to it for three miles from the Tigris, thence it turned northwards to the Dialah river. Close to the Tigris, on the left bank and midway between the two defensive lines, was situated the Arch of Ctesiphon—a prominent landmark.

A mile in rear of the second line of trenches a bridge of boats connected the two wings of the Turkish army. Further in rear, the Dialah river near its junction with the Tigris was bridged at two points and entrenchments commanded the crossings.

During General Townshend's concentration at Aziziyah accurate information had been obtained by aerial observation regarding the position of the Turkish defences.

8. The officers employed on these reconnaissances displayed the same intrepidity and devotion to duty that has been commented on in previous despatches. Unfortunately during the actual period of the battle at Ctesiphon a series of accidents deprived the Royal Flying Corps of several officers and machines. Among those forced to descend within the enemy's lines was Major H. L. Reilly, a Flight Commander of exceptional ability, who has much distinguished service to his credit.

9. It was reported that the enemy had over 13,000 regular troops and 38 guns in the Ctesiphon position. There were reports of the early arrival of further reinforcements. Though information on this point was indefinite and lacked confirmation, it was advisable that there should be no delay in attacking and defeating Nur-ed-Din before the arrival of possible reinforcements.

10. General Townshend, after a night march from Lajj on 21st-22nd November, attacked the hostile position on the left bank at the centre and on the north-east flank. A severe fight lasted throughout the day, resulting in the capture of the front position and more than 1,300 prisoners.

Our troops pressed on and penetrated to the second line, capturing eight guns and establishing themselves in the enemy's trenches. Here they were subjected to heavy counter-attacks by fresh troops. The captured guns changed hands several times. Finally, they had to be abandoned, as shortly before nightfall it was found necessary, owing to diminished numbers, to order the withdrawal of our troops from the forward positions, to which they had penetrated, back to the first position,

11. On the 23rd November our troops were reorganized in the position they had captured, and the work of collecting the numerous casualties was continued.

Owing to heavy losses in killed and wounded it was inadvisable to renew the offensive.

There is no doubt that the Turkish troops who had fought on the previous day were in no condition to resume the fight. The battle-field was littered with their killed and wounded and many of the trenches were choked with dead. The 45th Turkish Division, which had held the front trenches, was practically destroyed. But reinforcements came up and heavy attacks were made all along General Townshend's line throughout the night 23rd-24th November. These were repulsed and the enemy must have lost heavily.

12. On the 24th November wounded and prisoners were evacuated from Ctesiphon to Lajj, where the shipping flotilla was banked in; and General Townshend consolidated the position he had taken up on the battlefield. His leftflank, which had been near the Ctesiphon Arch, in advance of the main position, moved back into the general alignment. Owing to the interruption of a water channel which had supplied the trenches on the north-east flank, our troops there suffered from want of water; so the right flank was brought nearer the river. This movement was successfully effected under the cover of an offensive movement pushed out from the centre of the position. The enemy displayed little activity throughout this day, except for shell fire. Most of this came from guns on the right bank which prevented the steamers advancing upstream from Lajj.

13. On the 25th November the remainder of the wounded were sent back to Lajj. Up to this time it appeared from hostile movements to their rear—reported by air reconnaissance—that the Turks contemplated a retirement from their remaining positions. But they received some fresh reinforcements on the 25th. During the afternoon large columns were seen advancing down the left bank and also inland, as if to turn our right flank, while hostile cavalry threatened our rear.

14. General Townshend was nine miles from his shipping and source of supplies at Lajj, faced by superior forces of fresh troops. He decided to avoid an engagement, and, under cover of night, withdrew to Lajj.

Here he remained during the 26th.

15. A position so far from bases of supply, with a vulnerable line of communication along the winding shallow river, was unfavourable for defence. It was necessary to withdraw further downstream to a more secure locality until conditions might enable a resumption of the offensive.

16. General Townshend withdrew unmolested during the night of 27th-28th to Aziziyah.

On the 29th the cavalry brigade, under Brigadier-General Roberts, east of Kutunie engaged and drove back the enemy's advanced mounted troops, who were attacking a stranded gunboat. The 14th Hussars and the 7th (Hariana) Lancers made a successful charge. Some 140 casualties were inflicted on the enemy.

17. On the morning of the 30th, continuing the retirement, the main force halted at Umm-at-Tubal, a mixed brigade under Major-General Sir C. Melliss pushing on towards Kut to deal with hostile mounted troops which had interrupted the passage of steamers at Chubibat, about 25 miles below Kut.

18. The troops had to remain at Umm-at-Tubal, as the ships were in difficulties in shoal water in this vicinity, and the enemy's whole force came up during the night. They attacked in great strength at daylight on the 1st December.

A fierce fight ensued, the Turks losing heavily from our artillery fire at a range of 2,500 yards. General Townshend took advantage of a successful counter-attack, made by the cavalry brigade against a column which attempted to envelop his right flank, to break off the fight and retire by echelons of brigades. This was carried out in perfect order under a heavy shell fire, and by midday the enemy had been shaken off. General Townshend reports that it was entirely due to the splendid steadiness of the troops and to the excellence of his Brigadiers that he was able to repulse the enemy's determined attacks and extricate his force from the difficult situation in which it was placed.

The mixed brigade commanded by General Melliss consisting of—

30th Infantry Brigade.

1-5th Hants (Howitzer) Battery, R. F. A., and the 16th Cavalry, which had been despatched to Chubibat on the morning of 30th November, was recalled on the night of 30th November-1st December. This brigade marched 80 miles in three days including the battle of December 1st. At the end of it their valour and discipline was in no way diminished and their losses did not include a single prisoner.

19. After a march of 30 miles, Shadi was reached on the night of 1st-2nd December and on the morning of 3rd December General Townshend was installed at Kut-al-Amarah, where, it was decided, his retirement should end.

20. The Naval flotilla on the Tigris operated on the left flank of the troops throughout the operations that have been described.

From November 22nd to November 25th the gunboats from positions below Bustan (two miles east of Ctesiphon) were engaged against hostile artillery, particularly against concealed guns on the right bank, which prevented ships from moving above Bustan.

21. During the retreat from Ctesiphon to Kut the gunboats under Captain Nunn, D.S.O., Senior Naval Officer, rendered valuable services in protecting the steamers and barges and in assisting when they grounded. The Naval gunboats were employed at this work day and night, frequently under fire from snipers on both banks.

Owing to numerous loops and twists in the course of the river, it was impossible for the flotilla to remain in touch with the troops during the retirement.

22. On the evening of the 28th November, "Shaitan" went aground about eight miles above Aziziyah and could not be refloated. Throughout November 29th, "Firefly" and "Shushan" salved "Shaitan's" guns and stores under heavy sniping from both banks, until the situation was relieved in the afternoon by the action of the cavalry brigade which has already been referred to.

The hull of "Shaitan" eventually had to be abandoned as the Turks opened fire with guns on the ships which had remained behind.

23. On the occasion of the Turkish attack on the morning of December 1st at Umm-at-Tubal, "Firefly" and "Comet" made good practice with lyddite at a large body of Turks at a range of 3,000 yards. The ships came under a heavy and accurate shell fire, and at 7 A.M., a shell penetrated the boiler of "Firefly" disabling her. H.M.S. "Comet" (Captain Nunn) took "Firefly" in tow and, in endeavouring to turn in the narrow river, both ships took the ground. "Firefly" was got clear and sent drifting downstream; but "Comet" would not move from the bank, against which she had been wedged by "Firefly."

24. "Sumana" came up and made several unsuccessful attempts to drag "Comet" off the bank. The enemy's fire increased in intensity; they brought up several field guns to short range; the ships were surrounded by Turkish troops and fired on at a range of 50 yards. "Comet" and "Firefly" were badly damaged and on fire. They were abandoned after the guns had been rendered useless and the crews were taken on board "Sumana", which succeeded in effecting her escape.

Subsequently "Sumana" did most valuable work in salving shipping which had got into difficulties further downstream.

25. Throughout these operations Captain Nunn, Lieutenant Eddis who was wounded, and all officers and men of the Naval flotilla behaved with great coolness and bravery under most trying circumstances.

26. The valour of the troops who fought under General Townshend at the battle of Ctesiphon is beyond praise. The 6th Division exhibited the same dauntless courage and self-sacrifice in the attack that has distinguished it throughout the campaign in Mesopotamia.

The dash with which the Indian troops (enlisted from all parts of India) have attacked a stubborn foe in well entrenched positions, I attribute largely to the confidence with which they have been inspired by the British battalions of the force.

When forced by greatly superior numbers to act on the defensive, and during the retreat to Kut under the most trying conditions, the troops responded to the calls made on them with admirable discipline and steadiness.

They proved themselves to be soldiers of the finest quality.

27. These fine troops were most ably commanded by Major-General C. V. F. Townshend, C.B., D.S.O. I have a very high opinion indeed of this officer's capabilities as a commander of troops in the field. He was tried very highly, not only at the battle of Ctesiphon, but more especially during the retirement that ensued. Untiring, resourceful and even more cheerful as the outlook grew darker, he possesses, in my opinion, very special qualifications as a commander.

He is imperturbable under the heaviest fire and his judgment is undisturbed.

28. With great regret, I have been forced, by reasons of ill-health, to resign the command of the British Forces in Mesopotamia—an appointment I have had the honour of holding during the past nine months.

In order to complete the record of events during my period in command, I will now give a brief narrative of the operations on the Tigris from the time that General Townshend's force reached Kut-al-Amarah on December 3rd until the date of my departure from Mesopotamia.

29. When General Townshend reached Kut on December 3rd, measures were taken to withstand a siege until the arrival of relief from reinforcements which were coming from over-seas.

Defences were improved. Shipping was despatched to Basrah, evacuating the sick and wounded, and also the Turkish prisoners (1,350 were captured at Ctesiphon and all were safely brought away in the retreat).

The armed tug "Sumana" was the only vessel left at Kut.

The cavalry brigade and a convoy of transport animals were marched down to Ali-al-Gharbi, before the enemy could effect an investment.

The cavalry left on December 6th. On that day the enemy closed on the northern front and by December 7th the investment of Kut was complete.

30. The cavalry at Ali-al-Gharbi was reinforced with infantry and guns from Basrah. Behind this advanced detachment, a force under the command of Major-General F. J. Aylmer, V.C., was collected on the line Amarah—Ali-al-Gharbi, for the relief of Kut as soon as its concentration was completed.

31. The entrenched camp at Kut is contained in a "U" shaped loop of the Tigris; the town stands at the most southerly end of the peninsula so formed. The northern defences are some 3,200 yards from the town: the peninsula is about a mile in width.

A detached post was established at a small village on the right bank of the river opposite Kut. East of the town was a bridge of boats, covered by a bridge-head detachment on the right bank.

32. On December 8th, the enemy carried out a heavy bombardment from three sides, and Nur-ed-Din Pasha called upon General Townshend to surrender.

33. On December 9th, our detachment on the right bank, covering the bridge, was forced to retire before a heavy attack. The enemy occupied the right bank at the bridge head.

During the night December 9th-10th, the bridge was successfully demolished by a party gallantly led by Lieutenant A. B. Matthews, R.E., and Lieutenant R. T. Sweet, 2-7th Gurkha Rifles.

34. During the following days Kut was subjected to a continuous bombardment and several attacks were beaten off. The enemy's losses were heavy, especially in the abortive attacks on December 12th, when, it is estimated, their casualties amounted to 1,000.

35. Operations were then conducted on the lines of regular siege warfare. A redoubt at the north-east corner of the defences became the special objective of Turkish shell fire and sapping operations.

36. On the night of December 14th-15th a successful sortie was made against trenches facing the detached post on the right bank, and, on the night December 17th-18th, two sorties, from the redoubt previously referred to, cleared the enemy's nearest trenches. About thirty Turks were bayonetted and ten were captured.

37. Heavy fire was concentrated on the redoubt during the night December 23rd-24th, and throughout the 24th. The parapet was breached and the Turks effected an entrance, but they were driven out by a counter-attack, leaving 200 dead behind. Attacks were renewed later, and throughout the night of December 24th-25th, a fierce struggle took place around the redoubt. The enemy again effected a lodgment, but by morning they had been ejected and the assault was finally defeated.

38. No decisive attacks have been attempted by the Turks since their failure at Christmas, which, it is reported, cost them about 2,000 casualties.

39. On December 28th, a movement of troops, which was continued for several days, took place from the Turkish main camp (six miles above Kut), to Shaikh Saad, which had been occupied by enemy mounted troops for some time.

40. On January 4th, General Aylmer's leading troops, under Major-General Younghusband, advanced from Ali-al-Gharbi towards Shaikh Saad, moving by both banks.

General Younghusband's column got in touch with the enemy on the morning of January 6th. The Turks were entrenched astride the Tigris, three and a half miles east of Shaikh Saad. An attempt to turn the Turkish right flank did not succeed owing to the presence of hostile cavalry and Arabs in superior force on this flank.

41. General Aylmer arrived on the morning of January 7th with the remainder of his force and ordered a general attack; Major-General Younghusband commanding on the left bank, and Major-General Kemball on the right bank.

Very heavy fighting lasted throughout the day. By evening the enemy's trenches on the right bank had been captured and some 600 prisoners and two guns taken.

On the left bank our troops were entrenched opposite the enemy who still held their positions on that bank. Attempts to turn their left flank had been checked by counter-enveloping movements from the north.

42. The troops were very fatigued next day and little progress was made.

On January 9th, the Turks were forced to abandon their remaining positions and retired upstream, followed by General Aylmer's force. But heavy rain now fell, making the alluvial soil of the roads almost impassable, and prevented active operations for the next two days. It is estimated that the enemy's losses during the three days' fighting at Shaikh Saad amounted to 4,500.

43. The enemy fell back about 10 miles to the Wadi—a tributary which joins the Tigris on the left bank. They took up a new position behind the Wadi and on the right bank of the Tigris, opposite the mouth of the Wadi.

44. General Aylmer concentrated his whole force on the left bank and attacked the Wadi position on the 13th. After hard fighting the Turks were driven out on the 14th and retired five miles further west and entrenched across a defile bounded on the north by a marsh and on the south by the Tigris. They were followed to this position by General Aylmer's force.

45. Throughout these operations the weather was very bad. The heavy rain and high wind caused great discomfort to the troops and made movement by land and by river most difficult. Up to January 17th there was no improvement in the weather and active operations were at a standstill.

46. As, owing to ill-health, I am about to relinquish command of Indian Expeditionary Force "D", I desire to place on record my warm appreciation of the able and devoted assistance afforded me by the staff at General Headquarters and officers of the various Administrative Services and Departments.

I wish specially to bring forward the names of the following officers who have rendered very valuable services:—

Major-General G. V. Kemball has proved himself to be a very gallant officer and has the true offensive spirit. As a commander of troops in the field I consider him to be a leader of great ability and power.

I am indebted to Major-General M. Cowper for the assistance which his knowledge of administrative staff work and organisation has afforded me.

Major (temporary Lieutenant-Colonel) W. H. Beach is at all times a hard-working, capable and thoroughly reliable Staff officer whose services have been invaluable to me. As head of the Intelligence Branch he has shown exceptional powers of insight and organisation.

Major (temporary Lieutenant-Colonel) H. R. Hopwood has performed his important duties in a highly satisfactory manner. He is thoroughly capable and full of tact and resource, in fact possesses all the qualities that go to make a good Staff officer.

Major R. A. Cassels has in the field proved himself to be a bold and resourceful Staff officer, and the manner in which he has acquitted himself of duties falling to hand outside the ordinary scope of his work is highly satisfactory and of value to the State.

Major W. C. Croley, R.A.M.C., has been in medical charge of the Staff at General Head-quarters and has shown himself always the right man in the right place, and to have taken the keenest interest in his work and care of those whom he had in charge.

To my personal staff I am under great obligations for their willing and able assistance in quarters on the march, and in the fight, and I draw attention to the recommendations for rewards which I have already made:—

Captain L. G. Williams.
Captain E. J. Nixon.
Lieutenant G. B. Walker.

The Medical Services have had to face very trying and unusual conditions. On more than one occasion the number and severity of the casualties have thrown the greatest strain on them, but the organisation and efficiency of the arrangements have ensured as speedy an evacuation of the wounded as the means placed at their disposal permitted. In this connection I wish to bring forward the name of Surgeon-General H. G. Hathaway.

The work of the Royal Engineers has been excellently carried out under the able direction of Brigadier-General J. C. Rimington and I take this opportunity of expressing my appreciation of the valuable assistance rendered by this branch of the service as a whole.

The British General Hospital has throughout been in the charge of Lieutenant-Colonel D. J. Collins, R.A.M.C., whose zeal, energy and organising power have rendered it a model hospital of its kind. Credit is also due to Lieutenant-Colonel G. B. Irvine, I.M.S., for his devoted and careful supervision of the Indian General Hospital.

I have before expressed my indebtedness to Major-General K. S. Davison and his staff and I must now do so again for their able and efficient management of the lines of communication under the most difficult and trying circumstances. In Captain J. C. Macrae he has a good and able Staff officer.

It must be remembered that, as a port, Basrah has no facilities for the discharge of stores or the disembarkation of troops and animals. The officers of the Royal Indian Marine consequently have had no easy task in improvising wharves and berths, and dealing with the large number of transports which have recently arrived and have had to be unloaded with the utmost expedition. They have, nevertheless, overcome these many difficulties and the greatest credit is due to them for what they have accomplished.

The officers and crews of the Tigris steamers belonging to Messrs. Lynch Brothers and of the other river craft have always displayed gallantry of a high order in bringing their ships on, often under heavy fire, and it is not too much to say that without this assistance, and the indefatigable manner in which they have worked, the movements of troops and supplies would not have been possible.

I cannot praise too highly the work done by the Telegraph and Postal Departments, the state of completeness of which has done much to promote the general efficiency of the force.

All demands made on the Telegraph Department have been rapidly and effectively met at the cost of much hard labour under trying conditions and at great personal risk, which reflects the greatest credit on Mr. L. Bagshawe and the important department over which he presides.

The exigencies of field service have thrown a great strain on the Postal Department, but owing to the hard work done and the excellent organisation built up by Mr. E. Clerici and his staff the results have been most satisfactory.

Finally, I am very grateful to Lieutenant-Colonel Sir P. Z. Cox for his able co-operation and willing assistance. The force has largely profited by his deep knowledge of local conditions and peoples, and by the tact and bold resource which he has displayed in all he has undertaken.

The names of the following officers, all of whom have performed good service, are brought to the notice of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief :—

Booth, Brevet Major F.
Branson, Captain L. H.
Dick, Major R. N.
Duffy, Deputy Commissary and Captain T. A.
Goad, Lieutenant C. R., R.I.M.
Greenstreet, Major C. B. L.
Gribbon, Major W. H.
Hamilton, Captain W. H., I.M.S.
Huddleston, Commander (temporary Captain) W. B.
Kinch, Lieutenant A. G., R.I.M.
Marsh, Lieutenant B. C., R.I.M.
More, Captain J. C.
Mowat, Captain J. S.
Parsley, 2nd-Lieutenant W. C

Queripel, Major (temporary Lieutenant-Colonel) L. H.
Shah, Lieutenant A. S.
Thompson, Captain R. C.
Whittall, Captain G. E.
Winter, Major (temporary Lieutenant-Colonel) C. B.

47. As soon as postal communication is established with General Townshend, I have no doubt that he will have further names to bring to notice.

REPORT ON FAMINE AND SCARCITY IN THE DISTRICTS OF BANKURA AND TIPPERA FOR THE WEEK ENDING MAY 13th, 1916.

In the Bankura district the distress in the affected areas is generally unchanged. People on works are generally in good condition. The relief measures are adequate. People are freely resorting to works. Loans are being freely advanced. Scarcity of fodder continues. Private charitable funds are giving assistance. Prices are stationary. The price of rice is 8½ seers per rupee. The number of persons on relief-works was 19,515 and in receipt of gratuitous relief 25,724, total 45,239. The number of persons relieved on private works was 6,565.

In the Tippera district rain is wanted for standing crops. Sowing and weeding are practically complete. There have been sporadic cases of cholera, otherwise public health is good. The price of rice is 7 seers per rupee. The number of persons on test-works was 887 and in receipt of gratuitous relief 4,470, total 5,357. The decrease in the number of persons on test-works was due to great demand for labour for weeding operations.

Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

DISTRICT REPORTS ON WEATHER AND CROPS

For the week ending on the 22nd May 1916.

Summary.—Excepting in some Northern Bengal districts no rain fell during the week under report. Continued want of rainfall is greatly retarding the sowing of bhadoi crops, especially in some of the Western Bengal districts. The growth of the young plants of autumn paddy and jute in Eastern Bengal is also being impeded. Continuance of such dry weather for a week or so more is likely to affect the prospects of the autumn crops seriously. Summer rice is still being harvested in places. Weeding of jute fields is going on throughout Eastern Bengal. Mangoes are ripening in Malda. Water-scarcity is being felt in parts of the 24-Parganas, Murshidabad, Burdwan, Birbhum, Bankura and Midnapore. Fodder is getting scarce in the last three districts. Cattle-disease is reported from nine districts. The average price of common rice for the province rose 1·16 per cent., as compared with that of the previous week.

Rules for the Raiyatwari Settlement of the Sundarbans Tracts in Bakarganj.

No. 861T.R.—The 29th May 1916.—The following rules are prescribed for the settlement of waste lands in the Bakarganj portion of the Sundarbans :—

Bakarganj.

(2) Lands available for lease.—The "waste lands" to which these rules apply include all lands ungranted and unoccupied at the disposal of Government, or those which from any cause or under any circumstances whatsoever revert to Government in the Sundarbans of the district of Bakarganj, and which have not been declared a reserved forest under the Forest Act, VII of 1878.

(3) Right of Government to withhold land from being settled.—The Government reserves to itself the right of withholding the settlement of any land by special order made at any time before the settlement is finally made.

RIGHTS IN THE LANDS WHICH ARE RESERVED BY GOVERNMENT.

(4) Proprietary rights.—Government retains its proprietary rights in the lands which may be settled.

(5) Rights to minerals on lands settled.—The Government reserves to itself the right to all minerals on the lands which may be settled, together with such rights of way and other reasonable facilities as may be requisite for working, getting and carrying away such minerals.

(6) Rights of Government to fishery, etc.—The Government reserves all rights of fishery and the control of all channels and streams. It is not the intention of Government that any raiyat of any estate shall be prevented from catching fish for his own use in the enclosed water of any khal within the estate, provided that the raiyat observes such close times and uses only such methods of fishing as the Collector may from time to time approve.

(7) Lands to be subject to rights of way, etc.—The land shall be subject to all existing rights of way and water and other easements, and to any exceptions and reservations which may be particularized in the lease.

(8) Right reserved to the public.—A tow-path not less than 25 feet in width on each side of every navigable stream and channel shall ordinarily be reserved by Government for the use of the public.

(9) Common lands.—The Government reserves to itself the right to regulate the conditions as to the use of any lands which may be reserved for the common use of the villagers.

(10) Liability of land to cesses.—The land shall be subject to any cesses, such as road and public works cesses or any other which may hereafter be imposed by law in addition to the rent assessed.

RIGHTS OF THE RAIYAT.

(11) It is the intention of Government that settlement shall be made with resident cultivating raiyats, and to prevent the intervention of middlemen who will be merely rent collectors between Government and the actual cultivators. All lands that may be settled with such raiyats shall be heritable.

(12) Transferability of holding.—No raiyat will have the right to transfer his holding without the previous consent in writing of the Collector. In cases in which transfer is allowed, the transferee will be bound by the same conditions as regards transferability as his predecessor in interest. The Collector will allow transfers on the following conditions :—

(a) The transferee must be a resident and cultivating raiyat or the Collector must have reason to believe that he is about to become so.

(b) The transfer must not result in the transferee's holding in the estate exceeding 100 bighas.

(c) No transfer by a Mugh shall be allowed unless the transferee is a Mugh.

(13) Subdivision of the holding.—A raiyat will be permitted to transfer a part of his holding subject to the consent in writing of the Collector, which consent will ordinarily be given on the same conditions as in the case of transfer of the whole holding (paragraph 12).

(14) Exchange of lands.—Exchange of lands between the raiyats of the estate will ordinarily be permitted, but will be subject to the consent of the Collector in writing.

(15) Subletting.—The right to sublet the lands of a holding either on produce or cash rents is not granted. The Government reserves to itself the right to resume any lands which may be sublet and to settle them direct with the actual cultivator.

It is not the intention of Government that this condition shall be worked harshly or indiscriminately, e.g., widows or guardians of minors or temporarily incapacitated persons would be permitted to sublet the lands of their holdings. But the creation of a class of raiyats of large holdings with cultivators under them and permanently paying rents to them will not be allowed.

DUTIES OF THE RAIYATS.

(16) Residence on the estate.—Every raiyat must reside on his holding, or if outside the holding, then within such distance thereof as the Collector may approve. If he fails to do so, the Collector may require him to give up his lands or transfer them to a person who must be approved by the Collector.

It is not the intention of Government that this rule should be worked harshly, nor to prohibit temporary absences from the holding for the purpose of labour or service. It is only intended to prevent the growth of a class of absentee raiyats.

(17) To cultivate the lands.—The raiyat must proceed to reclaim and cultivate his holding with due diligence. The Government reserves the right to resume any lands which are not cultivated within a reasonable time and to settle them with other raiyats.

(18) Maintenance of boundary marks.—The position and extent of his allotment will be pointed out to the raiyat, and artificial boundary marks will be erected so far as may be necessary to indicate his holding and these will have to be maintained by the raiyat. If they are not maintained, they may be repaired at his expense, and the cost of such repair will be recoverable as a public demand.

(19) Maintenance of bunds.—All the larger works of improvement which may appear to the Collector to be necessary for each estate, such as the damming of any large khal which is doing harm and the digging of tanks for drinking water will be carried out by Government. Marginal embankments should on no account be constructed without the permission of Government in the Public Works Department.

No tenant may cut, or do anything to impair any dam or any embankment constructed by Government without the permission of the Collector or the Colonization Officer. If any tenant transgresses this rule he will be called upon to repair the dam or embankment at his own cost to the satisfaction of the Collector and, if he fails to do so, the Collector may repair the dam or embankment and recover the cost from the tenant as a public demand.

If there is danger of an imminent breach of any dam or embankment constructed by Government, due to a high tide or to a defect in the dam or embankment or to any other cause, the tenant, whose land adjoins the spot, will be responsible for sending information at once to the nearest Government officer and in the meantime for taking all steps within his power to stop the breach temporarily until help can be obtained.

(20) Repayment of loan.—The raiyat must repay any loan advanced to him on the due dates.

(21) Payment of rent.—The raiyat must pay his rent on the due dates. If he fails to do so, the rent will be recovered under the law in force for the time being for the recovery of public demands.

ADMINISTRATION.

(22) The settlements will be carried out under the orders and control of the Collector of the district. He will be assisted by such establishments as may be given to him for this purpose. He will be under the control of the Commissioner of the Division.

In carrying out these raiyatwari settlements considerable discretion is allowed to the Collector but the following points will demand his attention.

(23) Estimates for necessary improvements.—When an estate or a portion of an estate is taken up for settlement, estimates must be prepared for the necessary protective bunds and for a supply of drinking water. Further estimates will be prepared, if necessary, in the light of experience and subsequent developments.

(24) Tanks for drinking water must be constructed in suitable sites.

(25) All proposals for settlements must include proposals for adequate fuel, timber and grazing reserves either within the estate or at a convenient distance.

(26) Application for holdings.—Applications by bonâ-fide cultivators for raiyatwari holdings shall be in writing and may be on plain paper, and may be presented to the Collector, or to the local officer in charge of the estate who shall forward them to the Collector with his recommendations. The applicant shall give full particulars regarding his present residence, and should state whether he desires to receive a loan, if so, how much and what security he can give.

(27) Limit of area.—The maximum area for an original grant should be 75 bighas and the minimum 10 bighas. It will be well, however, not to give at first holdings in excess of what the applicant can be reasonably expected to cultivate fully in a few years. Comparatively well-to-do applicants who can afford to pay for hired labour may get larger holdings than those who are poor and may have to go away and labour for their subsistence for a part of the year.

Every care must be taken not to encourage or assist the practice of subletting lands by giving large holdings which the occupant cannot personally reclaim either by himself or by hired labour.

A settlement such as these rules provide for is a matter of continual adjustment and it will be much easier to add to a raiyat's holding than to take away from it. The original area allotted should be, therefore, strictly limited to the applicant's means of cultivation and probable requirement as measured by the number of working members of his family and his ability to employ hired labour.

(28) Demarcation of allotments.—Allotments must be sufficiently marked off and demarcated by natural or artificial boundary marks. After demarcation the allotment must be surveyed and plotted on the estate map. The survey should be sufficiently accurate to afford a record in case of boundary marks being removed and disputes arising. The estate may be divided into block sheets or other convenient sheets, and rough working sheets may first be used to sketch in the allotments proposed and more accurate maps of the holdings as they are effectively occupied and cultivated and finally confirmed may afterwards be prepared.

LOANS WITHOUT INTEREST MAY BE GIVEN

(29) Loans.—These loans may not exceed Rs. 200 in all to one family and should not exceed—

	Rs.
In the first year	100
Do. second year	80
Do. third „	20

They may be given in cash or in grain. Great care must be taken in granting such loans which, for the most part, must at first at least be unsecured. A certain amount of safety will be obtained if a group of settlers take a loan on joint and separate liability, and this should be secured, if possible. But ordinarily all the security there will be for the loan, will consist of the value of such improvement as the borrower may make to his holding and of the value of any homestead he may erect. It will be a safeguard if loans are advanced gradually as it is seen that the applicant is improving his holding and building his homestead. Settlers who expend labour in this way are also less likely to abscond and may, therefore, be expected to repay their loan in due course.

(30) Repayment of loans.—An instalment bond will be taken for the repayment of these loans. Repayment should begin from the fifth year and should be completed by the end of the eleventh year. Any instalment not paid on due date may be recovered, with interest, from that date at 6¼ per cent. per annum, as a public demand.

(31) Rate of assessment.—No rent shall be charged for land settled under these rules for the first three years of settlement.

In the case of the five groups into which the area at present under colonization has been divided, the maximum rates of rent for every standard bigha shall be as follows until the groups come under resettlement :—

		Rs. A.	Rs. A.
(I) Bogi	Group ...	... 1 2	to 1 6	In different parts.
(II) Central	„ ...	... 1 2	„ 1 4
(III) Eastern	„ ...	... 1 4
(IV) Southern	„ ...	... 1 0
(V) Kalamegha	„ ...	.. 1 8

The rent for any new group which may come up for settlement will be decided after consideration of the economic circumstances of that group.

For houses or shops rates below or above the rates mentioned in this rule may be fixed with the approval of Government.

(32) A copy of the rules (4) to (21) in vernacular will be given to every settler and will be hung up in the estate cutcherry. They must be carefully explained to every applicant who should be told that he can only obtain lands on these conditions and should be required to execute a kabuliyat agreeing to these terms. The lease to the raiyats should be in the annexed form.

ESTABLISHMENT FOR THE MANAGEMENT.

(33) It will be necessary to have an efficient and responsible officer resident on or near the estate to carry out the following amongst other duties :—

(1) To carry out the works of reclamation and improvement, such as embankments, tanks, roads, jungle-clearing, so far as it is done by Government. This may possibly be done by a separate works establishment.

(2) To demarcate the reserved and public lands, and see that they are not encroached upon.

(3) To enquire into the history of the applicants who apply to him direct and submit recommendations to the Collector.

(4) To receive and point out their allotments to the settlers.

(5) To demarcate the allotments on the ground and survey and plot them on the map of the estate.

(6) To keep up a record of the allotments made in a register which will show—

Serial number of holding.
Name of settler and father's name.
Name of village and thana from which he has come.
Date of giving possession of allotment.
Block and plot numbers.
Area of each plot.

(7) To recommend as to loans and pay out the same when they are paid by instalments.

(8) To watch the progress of clearance and cultivation and the building of homesteads, generally and more particularly in the case of those who have received or are receiving advances.

(9) To arrange for markets and supplies.

(10) Generally to see that the wants of the community are supplied as far as possible and to protect their interest.

No. 68Marine.—In exercise of the power conferred by section 10 of the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1859 (I of 1859), the Governor in Council with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council is pleased to make the following rule regarding the issue, during the war, of temporary certificates of competency as Second Mate of Foreign-going and Home Trade Ships:—

"Following the procedure of the Board of Trade, the Government of Bengal have decided to issue, during the war, temporary certificates of competency as Second Mate to candidates who have served three years at sea, and who pass the examination for a Second Mate's certificate. The certificate issued will be marked 'temporary' and will be valid only until three months after the termination of the present hostilities.

All the provisions of the Regulations for the examination of Masters and Mates issued by this Government which apply to the examination for a Second Mate's certificate, other than the requirement as to four years' service at sea, will apply equally to the examination for a temporary Second Mate's certificate. Two years on a training ship followed by two years' service at sea will, therefore, qualify a candidate for examination for a temporary Second Mate's certificate.

* Inclusive of 1,632,606 maunds of salt issued under the credit system. Besides this quantity, 13,330 maunds of salt were issued under the credit system to inland bonded warehouses.

Compared with the corresponding quarter of the previous year and the same quarter of 1913-14, importations were less by 3·8 per cent. and 35·7 per cent., respectively, and clearances were less by 10·3 and 34·4 per cent., respectively. As compared with the corresponding period of the previous year, the decreased imports from Aden and Bombay, and the increased imports from Spain, Port Said, and Massowah are especially noticeable.

4. Table II shows the quantity of sea-imported salt remaining in the warehouses at the close of the quarter as compared with the preceding four quarters :—

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

REPORT ON FAMINE AND SCARCITY IN THE DISTRICTS OF BANKURA AND TIPPERA FOR THE WEEK ENDING MAY 20, 1916.

In the Bankura district the state of affairs in affected areas was generally unchanged. The condition of people on works is generally good. The relief measures are adequate. People are freely resorting to relief works. Loans are being freely advanced. Scarcity of fodder continues. Private charitable funds are giving relief. Prices have risen. The price of rice is 8½ seers per rupee. The number of persons on relief works was 21,556 and in receipt of gratuitous relief, 24,888—total 46,444. The increase in the number of persons on relief works was due to severity of distress for want of rain. The number of persons relieved on private works was 6,440.

In the Tippera district drought has affected standing crops. Public health is good. The relief measures are adequate. The price of rice is 7 seers per rupee. The number of persons on test works was 2,401 and in receipt of gratuitous relief, 4,791—total 7,192. The increase in the number of persons on test works was due to cessation of agricultural employment with the completion of the weeding and sowing operations.

L. Birley,

Offg. Secy to the Govt. of Bengal.

DISTRICT REPORTS ON WEATHER AND CROPS

For the week ending on the 29th May 1916.

Summary.—During the week light to moderate rain was scattered over a number of places in the province. The prospects of the standing crops have somewhat improved and the agricultural operations have been facilitated to some extent in those parts where rain did fall, but dry weather still prevailed over large areas, adversely affecting the growth of the young plants of sugarcane, aus paddy and jute, and rendering the further sowing of autumn crops very difficult, especially in western Bengal, where the operations are already late. Insects are reported to have caused some damage to aus paddy in parts of the Dacca and Noakhali districts. Cattle-disease was reported from seven districts. Water scarcity continues to be felt in parts of the 24-Parganas, Murshidabad, Burdwan, Birbhum and Midnapore. The price of common rice for the province rose by 0·91 per cent. as compared with that of the previous week.

No. 3968-34-W.-II.—The following list of articles, declared to be contraband of war, is published for general information :—

List of Articles declared to be Contraband of War.

THE articles declared to be contraband of war in the Proclamations now in force have been arranged alphabetically in the accompanying list. It is hoped that this will be convenient to all parties concerned.

The list comprises the articles which have been declared to be absolute contraband as well as those which have been declared to be conditional contraband. The circumstances of the present war are so peculiar that His Majesty's Government consider that for practical purposes the distinction between the two classes of contraband has ceased to have any value. So large a proportion of the inhabitants of the enemy country are taking part, directly or indirectly in the war that no real distinction can now be drawn between the armed forces and the civilian population. Similarly, the enemy Government has taken control, by a series of decrees and orders, of practically all the articles in the list of conditional contraband, so that they are now available for Government use. So long as these exceptional conditions continue our belligerent rights with respect to the two kinds of contraband are the same, and our treatment of them must be identical.
